our story

We've been providing decorative products to the healthcare market since 1940. At that time, our sales consultants were visiting hospitals daily, selling primarily sheets, towels, and apparel. Customers began asking if we could also provide cubicle curtains and drapery. As demand for decorative products grew, we established our first workroom on the third floor of the company's headquarters in Reading, Ohio in 1960 to better service our customers.

Our fabrication offering quickly expanded beyond cubicle curtains and drapery to include bedspreads, upholstery, and other decorative products. By 1980, in addition to hospitals, we were servicing hotels, corporate offices, restaurants, and retirement communities. Today, we're marketing our offerings as Standard Textile Interiors and service the healthcare, hospitality, educational, and commercial markets.
